

PSA ME, ASAP.

Large law firms are looking for new ways to optimize resources, track talent in a fluid environment and connect clients to both legal content and financial information.

Professional Services Automation systems – PSAs – pose a promising possibility.

Using the reach of the Internet, PSAs can help to find the right attorney for the job, wherever he/she may be in the organization; foster the creation of intelligent virtual teams; and facilitate staffing needs for new matters as they arise.

Niku Corporation is partnering with a select few law firms to help define and configure what may be the profession's next value-added business system. To learn more about PSAs and the Niku Legal Consortium, please contact Ron Huffman, Director of Business Development-Legal, at rhuffman@niku.com, or at 800.360.6053, ext. 232.
